

STILLWATER CLUB COLLECTION #65

SCOPE AND CONTENTS

This collection, .4 linear feet in size, relates to the Stillwater Club, an Adirondack hunting club. Two types of materials comprise the collection: photographs dating from 1944-1956 and notebooks dating from 1948-1958. The notebooks contain such items as membership lists, payments for lodging at the club, lists of deer taken, club by-laws, and financial reports.

INSTITUTIONAL HISTORY

The Stillwater Club has two camps, the main one on the North Branch of the Grasse and a secondary one on the Middle Branch, located on the western slope of the Adirondacks in the town of Clare in St. Lawrence County. It was founded by a group of men from Canton NY on May 13, 1893, as a hunting and canoeing club; from its first days, the club showed an interest in conservation as a way to preserve its deer herds for future hunters and its trout for future fishermen.
